4. Pursuant to 37 CFR § 2.122(d), printouts of current information from the electronic database records of the USPTO for each of Registration Nos. 1,277,867; 2,403,536; 2,628,696; 2,651,417; 2,681,644; 2,703,048; 2,732,629; 3,071,846; 3,076,905; 3,127,170; 3,194,287; 3,199,675; 3,202,402; 3,256,740; 3,411,797; 3,481,185; 3,595,149; 3,602,825; 3,602,826; 3,609,052; 3,676,782; 3,703,434; 3,749,950; 3,991,903; 4,214,217; 4,230,563; and 4,226,844, are attached to this Notice of Opposition as Exhibit A. The printouts show the current status and title for each of the registrations.

5. Opposers' filing dates and/or registration dates for the ACCU-CHEK marks cited above are significantly earlier than the constructive use date for Applicant's application for the CERA-CHEK mark. Therefore, Opposers' ACCU-CHEK marks are senior to Applicant's CERA-CHEK mark.

6. Based on Opposers' long-standing and consistent use of the ACCU-CHEK marks, coupled with the considerable time, effort and the over $1 billion that Opposers have spent on advertising and promoting the ACCU-CHEK marks, the relevant public and trade recognize the ACCU-CHEK marks as being associated with Opposers. To the extent the ACCU-CHEK marks are not inherently distinctive, they have acquired distinctiveness.

7. As a result of the recognition of Opposers' ACCU-CHEK marks, the -CHEK component of Opposers' ACCU-CHEK marks has also acquired distinctiveness in its own right when that -CHEK component is used in connection with products and services related to blood glucose monitoring and diabetes management and education.

8. Applicant is seeking registration of the CERA-CHEK mark for use in connection with "Apparatus for blood analysis for use in medical analysis; blood testing apparatus; diagnostic apparatus for in-vitro diagnostic medical testing of blood component; hematometers; lancets; medical apparatus and instruments, namely, in-vitro blood component analyzer; blood testing apparatus for medical purposes," in International Class 10.

9. In this Notice of Opposition, Opposers are opposing the registration of the CERA-CHEK mark with respect to all of the goods that Applicant has identified in the pending application, with the exception of hematometers.

10. On information and belief, the goods are or will be competitive with the products and services offered and sold by Opposers under the ACCU-CHEK marks and are likely to be purchased and used by the same class of purchasers.

11. Applicant's CERA-CHEK mark is so confusingly similar in appearance, sound, meaning and commercial impression to Opposers' ACCU-CHEK marks, which the public and trade already recognize and associate with Opposers, so as to cause confusion, to cause mistake or to deceive purchasers as to the source of Applicant's goods, or to some affiliation, connection or sponsorship between Opposers and Applicant.

12. In addition, because the —CHEK component of Applicant's CERA-CHEK mark is identical to Opposers' —CHEK component, and the terms sound the same when spoken, and because Opposers' —CHEK component has acquired distinctiveness in connection with Opposers' products and services related to blood glucose monitoring and diabetes management and education, Applicant's CERA-CHEK mark is so confusingly similar in appearance, sound, meaning and commercial impression to Opposers' ACCU-CHEK marks, which the public and trade already recognize and associate with Opposers, so as to cause confusion, to cause mistake or to deceive purchasers as to the source of Applicant's goods, or to some affiliation, connection or sponsorship between Opposers and Applicant.

13. If Applicant were permitted to use and register its CERA-CHEK mark to identify the goods listed in its pending application, confusion among consumers would cause damage and injury to Opposers by virtue of the related nature of Opposers' goods and services and the goods identified by the CERA-CHEK mark.

14. Opposers have expended considerable time, effort and money in advertising and otherwise promoting the ACCU-CHEK marks and in encouraging the public and trade to recognize the ACCU-CHEK marks and the -CHEK component that, unless refused, the registration obtained by Applicant would enable Applicant to reap the benefits of the goodwill attached to Opposers' ACCU-CHEK marks and the -CHEK component, and Opposers will suffer irreparable damage and injury as a result of the confusion that is likely to arise.

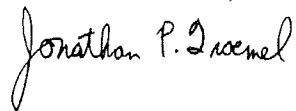

15. Any defect, objection or fault found with any of the goods provided by Applicant under the CERA-CHEK mark would necessarily reflect on and seriously injure the high quality reputation that Opposers have established and currently enjoy under the ACCU-CHEK marks.

Wherefore, Opposers pray that Application Serial No. 79/128,903 be rejected, that no registration be issued thereon to Applicant, and that this opposition be sustained in favor of Opposers.

Dated: March 20, 2014

Respectfully submitted,
